

Tableware

They say we eat with our eyes. So presentation is everything. From simple and functional to stylish design, our tableware products are sure to appeal.

Tableware is an extremely hard working category. Not only do products need to showcase the food that you are serving, but they must be resilient, hard wearing, hygienic and support the food offer that you make.

Simple styles or inventive designs, hard wearing or finer dining, bulk orders or niche pieces - each product must be able to meet your brief and deliver the quality that you and your customers expect.

Our extensive tableware portfolio includes everything that you might need including tableware, buffet ware and counter service crockery. Added value features such as Lifetime Edge Chip warranties also help give you the reassurance that our products will stand up to the most demanding of environments.

"We take great pride in being a UK manufacturer and the product quality that comes from this. Partnering with Yate Supplies, we are seeing phenomenal growth and enjoy a very dynamic and professional relationship."

"I am delighted to say that my experience with Yate Supplies has not only met my needs but exceeded them on many occasions. Whether it be the competitive pricing that they are able to offer, or the manner in which they handle my account, they have worked hard to give me the confidence that I need to place my trust and my business with them. As an example, if I want to look at crockery they will source a variety of options for me. They will come along and give me a complete overview on each of the products and really help me to make the very best decision."
